

STATE CAPITOL NEWS

By MELVIN LORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9 —(UP)—Uncertainty of California's future tax route increased as another initiative attack qualified for the general election ballot of November, 1936—this seeking the repeal of the state personal income tax law.

A final batch of signatures on the petition, mainly from Los Angeles San Francisco and Alameda counties, brought the total up to 195,844 qualified signers. Only 186,378 signatures were needed to give the proposition a place on the November ballot.

Officials of the secretary of state's office said it was one of the largest petitions ever filed.

For the first time since the inauguration of a direct relief program by the state, the relief work has gone on an "I. O. U." basis.

Necessity of paying those on relief rolls by means of state interest-bearing warrants was unavoidable after State Controller Ray L. Riley offered $1,902,624 worth of the promissory notes for sale and there were no bidders.

Sales of the warrants in large blocks was proposed as a means of avoiding necessity of issuing some 400,000 warrants to those on the January relief rolls.

Regardless of past registrations, citizens of California who wish to vote in any of the three elections during 1936 must re-register this year.

The re-registration was made necessary by a new act passed by the 1935 legislature as a means of repealing the permanent registration law and clean county records of thousands of names of persons who had either moved out of the state or died.

The California supreme court will decide before January 30 whether state veterans are legally eligible to exemption under the new in lieu tax on automobiles.

Action was brought by the state officials by means of a friendly suit to determine exactly if the veterans' $1,000 exemption could be applied to the new levy.

The final date for making application for new licenses and paying the tax is midnight of January 30. Tardy applicants will be assessed a 100 percent penalty on both the license fee and state tax.

Department officials warned that there would be no extension of the deadline as in past years inasmuch as the date is cited specifically in the tax act.

Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan believes that the names of California's outstanding educational institutions have no place on the labels of liquor bottles.

The secretary recently turned down an application for the use of "Stanford" as a trade name for liquor. Previous applications to use "U. C." and other college abbreviations had been denied also, it was announced.

Birthday Bell Committee To Meet Thursday

Dan Kneis, general chairman of the Birthday Ball for the President which is to be held on January 30th has called a meeting for Thursday night at 7:30 at the Native Son's Hall. At this time all the representatives from the several fraternal lodges, service clubs and organizations will meet with Mr. Kneis and outline plans for the coming dance.

New Department To Start At High School

J. C. Beswick, chief, bureau of trade and industrial education of the California department of education was in town on Monday to discuss with the board of trustees of the Meadow Lake High School the establishment of a vocational program in trade and industrial education. It is planned to start this program at the opening of the new semester which will be January 20th.

Mr. Beswick stated that for approved vocational trade and industrial programs the State Department of Education is able to reimburse a school district from the federal and state vocational education funds in part payment of the salaries of instructors of such programs. Such courses must be set up in accordance with the California Plan for Trade and Industrial Education, and must be maintained in accordance with all of the regulations of this plan and of the federal and state vocational education acts. Such help is now being received for the part payment of the instructor of the home economic class at the high school.

The board of trustees have recently fitted a room in the basement of the school building for this class as they feel there is a real need for vocational training in programs in which the boys will be allowed to spend enough time in an occupation to develop the required skill and technical knowledge of the occupation to enable them to get jobs after leaving school.

There are two types of industrial training programs, the program which is called vocational trade and industrial training which trains definitely for gainful employment following completion of the course; and the industrial arts program which the boys spend only a portion of their time in the work.

H. I. Snider was present at the Chamber of Commerce meeting on Monday and explained many features of the new course to the members. He stated in addition to instruction given at the high school by the instructor it is possible for the students to work under the various business men in the town and learn their particular trade and be given credit for this work. It is planned to start the course with a four hour period devoted to technical training, until some work can be found to give them the vocational training.

OPTION TAKEN ON RANGE LAND

An option to purchase 18,864 acres of Dog Valley range land in California, owned by the United Nevada Bank, for $1.50 per acre, has been taken by the national forest reservation commission, it was announced by Leo F. Schmitt, receiver for the bank.

Judge Clark Guild signed an order approving the six months' option taken by the government agency, and representatives of the forest service have indicated that the option will be exercised within a short time. The land will be added to the Tahoe national forest. It is all in California and extends north about nine miles and west about four miles from the intersection of the California-Nevada line with the Truckee river west of Verdi.

The forest service, through the Clark-McNary act, is securing range land adjacent to national forests in various parts of the country and within a short time may take an option on range land owned by the United Nevada bank in the Mount Rose area in Nevada, which joins the Dog Valley range at the Truckee river. The forest service may also acquire some privately owned land, near the eastern and southern sides of Lake Tahoe in Nevada and permit Nevada to use it for public park purposes. A proposal of this nature was made some time ago to the Nevada park commission and is still under consideration.

The Dog Valley range land is part of the holdings of the old Realization Company, which was taken over by the United Nevada Bank. It is now rented by the bank for grazing purposes for ten cents an acre while taxes paid to California on the land amount to nine and one-half cents an acre, Schmitt stated.

W. H. Laity was a visitor in San Francisco for several days.

Truckee Storage Development Is Anticipated

Apparently anticipating early approval of the Truckee river agreement by the interior department and the water users of the Washoe and Fallon districts, President Roosevelt estimated in his budget message to congress that $600,000 will have been expended by June 30, 1936 on the Truckee river upstream storage project and another $372,000 will be spent by the end of the 1937 fiscal year.

The reclamation bureau expended $27,593 on the project during 1935, the budget message stated, and the additional $972,000 expenditure, estimated by the president would use up the million dollars the Nevada project obtained under the national industrial recovery act of 1934. No new appropriations for the project were asked.

Judge Tuttle Ends Ten Years' Service on County Bench

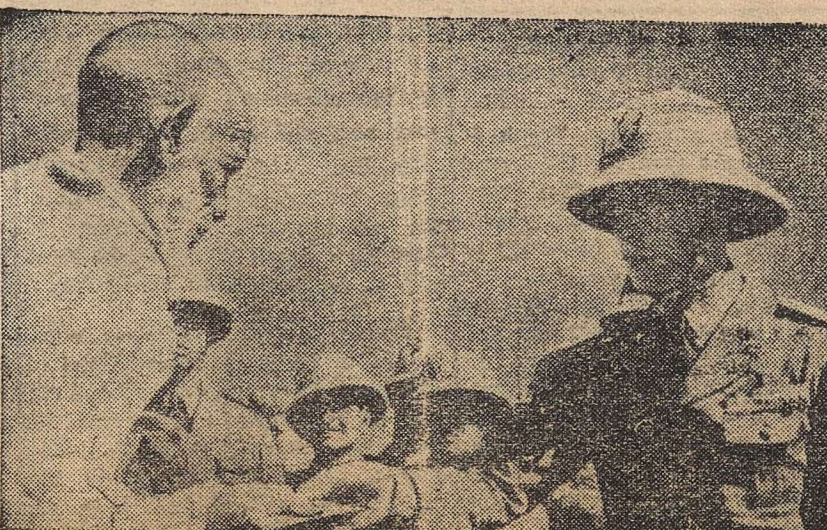

Friday was the tenth anniversary of the elevation of Judge Raglan Tuttle to the bench of the superior court of the State of California, for Nevada County; Lynne Kelly of the firm of Nilon, Hennessy and Kelly, took the occasion to make a few brief remarks complimenting the judge for his decade of service, his fairness to litigants and their counsel, and the general esteem in which he is held by the people of the county.

He also referred to Judge Tuttle's service in other superior courts in California, and as a judge, problem on the Appellate Bench, and concluded with the hope that he might be granted more years of such faithful service.

Judge Tuttle briefly expressed his appreciation of Mr. Kelly's remarks.

MOTION PICTURE CO. DELAYED TEN DAYS

The motion picture company from the Twentieth Century Fox studios which was to start work on their new picture "The Country Beyond" on January 6th have been forced to delay the picture for ten days due to an actor who is to be used in the picture being engaged until that time.

The Truckee Motion Picture Assn. have had the sets all prepared for the motion picture company and as soon as snow conditions are right after the middle of next week, the company will arrive to start the filming of the picture.

As announced previously, all business will be transacted through the Truckee Motion Picture Assn. and those who have registered and paid their registering fee of $5.00 have been listed and will be given their share of whatever business developments.

Los Angeles Man Gets Fish and Game Position

The appointment of A. T. Jergins, a Los Angeles oil industry leader, to the state fish and game commission was announced yesterday by Governor Frank F. Merriam.

Jergins will replace Elmer Houchin of Bakersfield who has resigned, the governor said, because of lack of time to devote to the commission's activities.

Merriam said Southern California conservationists recommended Jergins.

The other two fish and game commissioners are I. Zellerbach of San Francisco and Dr. Clarence Moore of Los Angeles, the latter chairman.

Trustees Request Extension For School

The board of trustees of the Truckee elementary school district have requested from the PWA a further extension of time for the erection of the new grammar school building. They were granted an extension of time until January 16th following the rejection of bids for the new school building which were opened on December 13th at the office of the county superintendent of schools. The bids were rejected as they were $8,237 in excess of the funds of the district which was available for this work.

The trustees were unable to comply with the law in advertising for new bids on the school within the time allotted, so a further extension is being requested. It is the opinion of the trustees that building should not start until spring due to weather conditions. However, they will shortly advertise for bids for the tearing down of the old school building that all may be in readiness for the erection of the new building in the spring.

Many changes will be made in the previous plans for the school building and an endeavor made to have plans submitted for a building that can be built within the amount the school has for this purpose.

SNOW AND RAIN STORM STILL PREVAIL

Light rains and snow have prevailed throughout the Truckee Tahoe region for the past week. The snow fall has been extremely light, and there is about six inches now on the ground.

Precipitation is below the normal for the season. Records for Truckee show 5.93 inches since September 1st and this is 1.83 inches below normal. Moisture at Truckee during December totaled 3.32 inches. The continued storms have raised the level of Lake Tahoe considerably. The level was 6222.34 feet above sea level, while the established rim of the lake is now 6223 feet.

Hearings Set For Jan. 14 On Local Suits

Suits to come before Judge Raglan Tuttle in the Superior Court at Nevada City in which local residents are involved are the cases of Anton Filippic vs Cooper, et al and J. R. Wollert vs Pompey Franzini. Hearings on these cases will be held on January 17th.

JUNIOR COLLEGE WINS FIRST PLACE IN SKI CONTEST

Earl Edmunds and Tony Besio Members of Winning Team in Intercollegiate Meet at Cisco.

The Sacramento Junior College winter sports team captured first place in the team standing at the Superior California Intercollegiate Meet in Cisco over the week end. Two Truckee boys, Earl Edmunds and Tony Besio were on the Junior College team. Another Truckee boy, Bud Owens was a member of the University of Nevada team.

The Junior College victory was won through the efforts of Earl Edmunds, Joseph Calder of Auburn and Tony Besio. As a team they made the best average in the cross-country race, third in the slalom and third in downhill competition.

Warren Vanderbilt of U. C. captured the downhill race in the fast time of 4 minutes 29 seconds, distancing Earl Edmunds by forty-eight seconds.

It was only when Tony Besio finished ninth in the slalom race Saturday afternoon that the Junior College was assured the team victory. Earl Edmunds finished fifth and Calder seventh in this event. Bud Owens finished eighth. By Besio finishing ahead of Ed. Rose of Nevada, the team score was won from the University of Nevada.

The Sacramento Junior College made 231 points, followed by the University of Nevada with 279.5; University of California, Berkeley, 278.6; University of California Los Angeles 237.7 and Whittier College 156.9.

The intercollegiate meet at the ski hill at Cisco will become an annual event. This decision was reached by the University of California at Berkeley, which sponsored the affair, after enthusiastic support was pledged by the other colleges.

LINDBERGH'S DEPARTURE DEPLORED

Departure of the Lindberghs for England in search of peace and security was deplored by California editors generally.

That any citizen should be forced to flee from the efforts of criminals—and publicist-mongers—was regarded as a national disgrace.

"The Lindberghs," said the Pasadena Star News, "in disgust and in despair of being safe and immune to publicity, repulsive to them, quietly sail for Europe to seek abroad what is denied them at home. What an unspeakable outrage that government and people of the United States complacently permit such things to be! The United States has become the most crime-sodden nation in the world, where human life is less safe than in any other country, where the average citizen is more exposed to crimes of violence than anywhere else on earth. These are horrible facts—but they are facts."

"Neither Colonel Lindbergh nor his wife, says the Long Beach Press Telegram, 'can be justly termed cowards,' as some persons have charged in their comments on the case. The man who made the first solo flight across the Atlantic must be supplied with a superabundance of courage and resourcefulness. Mrs. Lindbergh also has proved her mettle in the air and under other hazardous conditions. Colonel Lindbergh always has moved quietly in his goings and comings; but in nearly every instance his precaution has been of no avail. May he and his family find, in England, that quietness and security which they seek."

"Since the kidnaping and murder of their first child," notes the Salinas Index Journal, "the Lindberghs naturally have wanted to take no chances of a similar fate for their second offspring. Their apprehension has been heightened through frequent warning from cranks and others, until finally, driven almost to desperation, they believed that flight was the only safe course. Law-abiding citizens of the United States must be experiencing sympathy for the Lindberghs and no little shame on behalf of the country where such things are possible."

"America's heart will go with them," comments the San Francisco News, "in a trip that will have little enough of the peace that the season should afford everyone. At the same time the American people would like to believe that it was not necessary for the Lindberghs to take so drastic and sensational a step. Perhaps the Lindberghs were justified in their escape. It is a personal decision which nobody else could make for them. Certainly no parent will quarrel with it."

It would be a mistake, according to the Vallejo Times-Herald, "to suppose that the man fled to England merely because of the fear of kidnaping—although, all things considered you couldn't blame him if he had. Let us be honest about this business. It was yellow journalism, the desire for the spotlight on the part of small-time politicians—and cheap politics—as much as anything, which drove Lindbergh out of America. The wonder is not that he has at last moved to England, but that he didn't go raving mad long ago."

"This disgrace to our country," concludes the Coalinga Daily Record, "must not go unanswered. Something must be done to rectify the situation—even if it means tearing down our entire judicial system and rebuilding it on terroristic foundations. It's a cinch that there are those among the American people who will not respect the law voluntarily. Respect for law in England is not an accident—it is cultivated. It is tradition. Law is taken seriously. It is enforced without delay. Justice is sure and speedy. Americans, hang your heads in shame!"

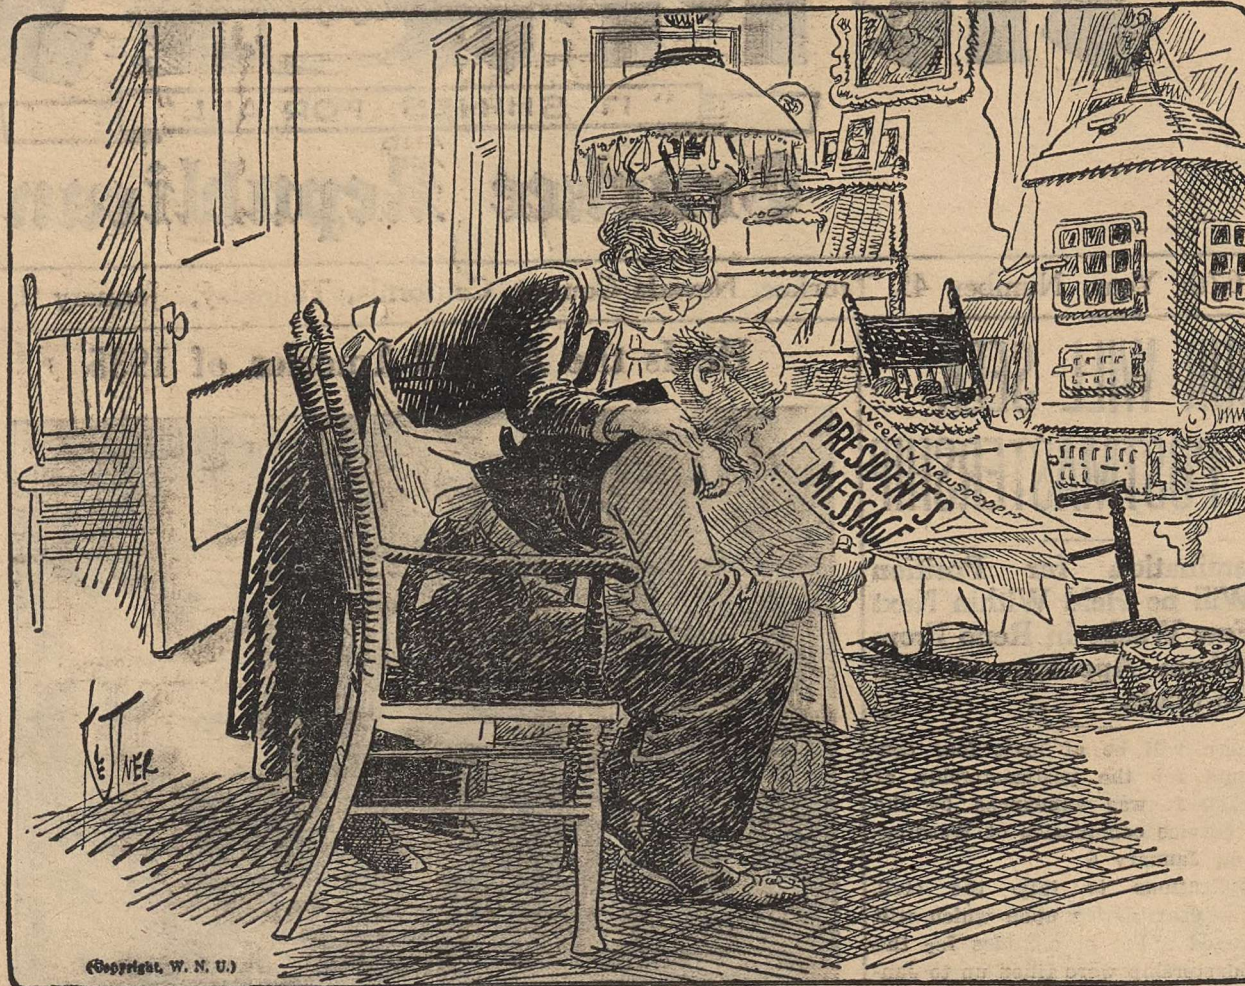

A WORD TO THE WISE

The auto owner in California, if he is wise, won't delay for a moment this business of getting new 1936 plates for his car this year. Usually the switch from the old to the new is a long, drawn-out process, with dead-lines set and new extensions granted until by the middle of March there are still cars on the street with last year's tag on them.

But that won't happen this year. The legislature did away with the extension idea, which means that after January 30 the laggard auto owner will have to lay out $6 instead of $3 for his plates.

Postcards, already have been mailed to over 2,000,000 car owners in the State telling them the evaluation of their machines, and the fee due, over and above the regular $3 license charge. This assessment is figured at $1.75 on each

Anything About Old Age Pensions?

$100 value. It is supposed to be paid before the motorist applies for his plates.

Furthermore, the State is going to demand that all old 1935-36 auto taxes be paid. Not a few of these are still delinquent, since it has been only half a year since they came due. July first used to be the date for paying the ad valorem levy.

Those habitual procrastinators who have thought, "oh, well, there's plenty of time," had better think again. State officials really meant it this year when they set the deadline for January 30.

EXPERIENCING A WORK OF ART

We are all critics; and the professional critic is only one who writes and prints where others think or speak. So when we are irritated by him, as we all are, we should remember that his perversities are probably our own, the difference being that he exposes himself in public. The danger of professional criticism lies less in its actual opinions than in its suggestions, implied rather than expressed; and the best criticism is valuable not so much for its particular judgements as for its attitude. The best critics are those who, having freed their minds from wrong suggestions, are there fore able to experience works of art, and who, by their manner of writing about works of art, help their readers to experience them.

But, if we are to attain this freedom and fullness of experience, we must be on our guard against wrong suggestions, must be aware that we are, ourselves, subject to them, and must know that our judgement is worthless until we have learned to experience works of art freely and completely. That, unfortunately, is what many critics, professional or amateur, never learn. Their whole commerce with works of art consists of criticism without experience, criticism which prevents experience; for they are always subject to the wrong suggestion, the commonest of all, that their business with a work of art is to judge it. They are misled, both by the derivation of the word critic, and by their natural desire to judge.

Having decided that a book is worth reading, you must cease to judge it while you read it; you must let it happen to you, or your opinion of it will not be worth having nor will you make any progress in the experience of literature or of any kind of art.

All right judgement, all good criticism is based on the enjoyment of and the Veterans' Welfare board bought most of them.

In Riley's opinion, there was no logical excuse for banks to refuse the warrants, which are short term investments bearing 4 per cent interest. There will be enough revenue to redeem all warrants issued up to March. After that, no one knows just exactly how or when the warrants will be recalled, but until then they constitute excellent investments, Riley believes.

Bankers are clamping down, it was understood, because they feared a continued demand for state warrants would influence legislators to adopt the attitude: "We don't have to raise new revenue; let the state continue issuing warrants in lieu of cash until conditions pick up enough in the future to redeem the warrants and return the state to a cash basis."

Bankers have no desire to "carry" the state indefinitely. As conditions are now, they will be holding some $70,000,000 in state I. O. U.'s by the end of this biennium, and they figure that load will be heavy enough. They want something done about reducing the deficit, and it is within their power to force a special session of the legislature anytime they decide to quit cashing the warrants.

Refusal of banks to cash state warrants would halt payment of state bills and salaries and cause the general fund financial setup to crumble unless new revenue was forthcoming swiftly.

Reports circulating here named Mrs. Helen Werner, Los Angeles political leader, as one of the most influential Southern California persons connected with board of equalization affairs.

Mrs. Werner, it was said, had something to do with the appointment of Ray L. Edgar, El Centro, as the successor to Orfa Jean Shontz, Southern district board member. It was known that she conferred with Governor Merriam before the appointment was made, and that she was friendly with that faction of the board which overpowered Controller Riley. She was known to be Riley's political enemy, largely because he ousted her as an inheritance tax appraiser. Mrs. Werner was in Sacramento when Edgar took his seat as a board member. It was rumored that her advice was sought concerning Southern California employees of the board who were slated for dismissal.

If all reports are true, the Los Angeles woman looms as a powerful influence in board affairs.

"Assemblyman Ford A. Chatters for Lieutenant Governor."

That cry may be raised if enough people should agree with a Marin county publisher who suggested that Chatters, Lindsay publisher, become a candidate. Capitol observers considered it doubtful whether Chatters would give the proposal much thought. He is too busy publishing a newspaper.

The signal beacon of the governor's office has been shrouded. No more can visitors tell when the executive is in his private office. Secretaries henceforth may feel perfectly safe when they say the governor is out. They will know that the questioner will not glance at the transom and see a light and know that the secretary was mistaken. For the transoms have been covered and an old capitol custom has ended.

Real Estate Sales Improve

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9 —(UP)—Indicative of a general improvement in conditions, the state division of real estate has had to make extra provision to take care of new license applications this year.

"There has been a noticeable increase in the real estate business and there is a general outlook for a better year in 1936," the division reported.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9 —(UP)—

The drive to place Gov. Frank F. Merriam in the race for the republican presidential nomination promises to develop into something more definite than the mere formation of clubs and Merriam's announced attitude that he was not seeking votes but would not discourage persons who advocate his candidacy.

The governor thus far has taken no active part in the campaign, but there were rumors that he may commence soon to throw his weight behind a drive to win delegates votes for himself.

If he should decide to enter the fray—if for no other reason than to increase his prominence and tighten his hold on the governorship—he might call upon Townsend fans to support him. Merriam was one of the first public officials to come out with an unreserved endorsement of the Townsend plan nearly a year ago, and he has not receded from that stand. He would have a strong talking point in appealing to the old age pension adherents to vote for delegates who would boost him at the republican convention.

Refusal of banks and investment houses to purchase large blocks of registered state warrants offered for sale in an effort to raise cash for unemployment relief purposes caused only a ripple of comment in the capitol. The refusal had been expected, because a month ago when Controller Ray L. Riley offered $2,000,000 worth of the interest-bearing warrants there were few takers

TAHOE REGION NEWS

By Swance

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the Lake Tahoe Ski club was held in the Clubhouse Friday night. Among various questions discussed was the idea of sending the club's charming little Queen, Miss Helen Worden to the Winter Sports Carnival in Sacramento, next Saturday night, to represent the Ski Club, but not to enter the competition. The question has not been decided as yet, but the majority of the younger members are hoping it may be possible. After the business meeting an impromptu series of boxing bouts were held which gave much pleasure to the men and boys present. Later delicious refreshments were served by our efficient secretary, Mrs. Henry aided by the Club officers. Many of the younger members have been working out on the ski hills through the holidays. Saturday President Pomin with a group of members worked at getting the hill in good shape. Sunday another group went over to help. As we have the State Meet this year we are all anxious to have the hills etc., in good order for it.

Quite a few visitors took part in the Winter Sports at Tahoe this week end and over the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul St. Sure, of Oakland, had as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. V. Wicklander. Mr. Wicklander left Jan. 2nd for his annual trip to Buck Island Lake, where for many years this seventy year old skier has spent a large part of the winter alone, skiing in the ten odd miles loaded down with supplies, with ease. It was very interesting to some of our young Ski Club members to watch this proficient skier, climb straight up the mountain sides using as his only harness a toe strap.

Mr. and Mrs. St. Sure left for their home also on Jan 2nd, but plan on other skiing trips to the Lake this winter.

Mrs. Valentine Woodhouse with her daughter Doris and son David spent two weeks of the holidays participating in the winter sports at Tahoe. They report a wonderful time and projected future trips to the Lakeside home of Mrs. Woodhouse's parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. S. McClatchy.

A merry house party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M.

Ellis on the Truckee River, over the holidays, in honor of Mrs. Ellis' daughter, Miss Phyllis Hill, San Francisco.

Miss Donaldine Grass, instructor in Physical Education at Junior College, Sacramento, and Miss Janice Hutchins, of Des Moines, Iowa, who were house guests of Miss Kathleen Anderson over the holidays, returned on Sunday to Sacramento. Miss Grass is also a devotee of winter sports and believes the Tahoe District offers great promise in this field.

January 3rd the new term of the Tahoe High School opened with Mrs. G. H. Hinkle in charge. We are hoping the youngsters do not get their Norwegian skiing terms mixed up with their French after the long holiday.

Mrs. Philip Gallinger, Tahoe Grammar School teacher is spending part of her vacation with relatives and friends in Valley Springs.

Mrs. Charles Swanson and son Jimmy, accompanied by Mrs. Adelia Ames left on Wednesday, for a short trip to Oakland and Bay Region cities.

The many friends of Joe Henry will be sorry to hear that he injured his back while tobogganing on New Year's Day and has been a semi-invalid ever since. 'Joe', however, is much better now and we hope that he will soon be around again. Meanwhile son Junior is carrying on the business, in his father's garage.

Prof. G. H. Hinkle, instructor in the English Department at Stanford University, returned to Palo Alto on Sunday after spending the vacation with his family at Tahoe.

Leslie and Allan Atherton of Turlock have been enjoying a vacation at Tahoe, at the home of their father Mr. G. W. Atherton, and Mrs. Atherton. Both boys are ardent skiers and all around athletes as most of our Tahoe youngsters.

Sunday morning Mr. and Mrs. Weller Atherton drove down to Stockton, to the home of Mr. Atherton's father, taking the boys with them that far on their return trip to Turlock.

Deputy Sheriff Carl Bechdolt of Tahoe Inn with his sons Carl, Jr. and Billy returned Friday from a trip to San Francisco where they attended the East-West Game. The father-son trio report a marvellous time and an exciting game, with the spectacular sight of twenty massed bands adding to the interest.

Gene Walker, son of Frank X. Walker, recently appointed to the Highway Patrol, from Tahoe District sent his regards to his friends at Tahoe, via Mr. Bechdolt.

Tom Walker is working a mine in Placerville.

Among the many festivities at Tahoe, during the holidays was a party for the younger set, given on New Year's Eve, by Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Henry, in honor of their daughter Patsy, and son Junior. On Saturday old man weather could not decide whether to give us sunshine, rain or snow, so he gave us all three on that day. First, we had a heavy downpour of rain, then the sunshine as bright and warm as a summer day and a little later a blizzard reminding us that winter was here.

Christian Science

In all Christian Science churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., a Lesson-Sermon will be read Sunday, January 12, on the subject "Sacrament." The Golden Text will be: "In the world ye shall have tribulation; but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world" (John 16:33). Bible selections will include the following passage from I Cor. 11: 23-26: "For I have received of the Lord that which also I delivered unto you, That the Lord Jesus the same night in which he was betrayed took bread: And when he had given thanks, he brake it, and said, Take, eat: this is my body, which is broken for you: this do in remembrance of me. After the same manner also he took the cup, when he had supper, saying, This cup is the new testament in my blood: this do ye, as oft as ye drink it, in remembrance of me. For as often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup, ye do shew the Lord's death till he come."

A passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included, which reads as follows: "If all who ever partook of the sacrament had really commemorated the sufferings of Jesus and drunk of his cup, they would have revolutionized the world" (p.34).

Mary Burns, Fugitive

By Wallace West—Novelized from the Walter Wagner—Paramount Picture of the same name.

CHAPTER VII

"I feel like a prize heel," Goldie was saying as she bent over an ironing board in the living room of their hideout, ironing some of Mary's starched uniforms. "Letting you take all the chances—usin' your dough—after the way I roused you around." "You roused me out of jail and I'll never forget that, Goldie," Mary slipped an arm around her friend's plump shoulders. "It sure is a miracle you haven't been recognized," continued Goldie. "I hope our good luck lasts." "It must last." The girl took off her hat and coat and sank into a chair, exhausted. "Goldie, when you

Sanctions

RECENT actions by the League of Nations in Geneva have brought to the attention of men a meaning of the word "sanction" which is somewhat unfamiliar to many people. It may be defined as that which is designed to induce the observance of law or to preserve the integrity of mutual agreements. The applying of sanctions to a nation which has disregarded a covenant may be considered by that nation as coercive or as punitive, while other nations would regard the application of sanctions as a means of correction to the offender, and of protection to others.

It will be acknowledged by any Bible student that Jesus understood, obeyed, and demonstrated the will or law of God. He said, as we are told in John (5:30), "I can of mine own self do nothing: as I hear, I judge; and my judgment is just; because I seek not mine own will, but the will of the Father which hath sent me." And, in showing that the will or law of God is beneficent in its effect, the Master healed the sick, gave sight to the blind, and hearing to the deaf; he liberated the sin-bound, and overcame death.

Those who have entertained a concept of God as manlike, as liable to changeableness and wrath, may have thought of the operation of divine law—sanctions, if you please—as implying suffering, and perhaps everlasting punishment. It may be that they have been told by theologians, who evidently were not acquainted with God as Jesus knew Him, that sickness and suffering, disaster and distress, were inflicted or permitted by God for some inscrutable purpose. Such, indeed, was the generally accepted opinion of religious teachers when Mary Baker Eddy learned through prayer and study of the Bible that God, the creator of all that is true, is Love, impartial and universal good, and that divine law, therefore, is always harmonizing and beneficent in its effect.

see people who are really suffering, you forget your own troubles. I've been serving coffee to a patient—a wonderful character. He's so cheerful—and nice—. You'd never think to talk to him, that when they unbandage his eyes—he may be blind forever."

"That might not be so bad," said Goldie, stoically continuing with her ironing. "I've had my eyes open for twenty-six years—an' most of the things I've seen—haven't been easy to look at. Coppers—for instance." She smiled toward the other room. Let those G-Men hear that.

As she finished speaking there came a slow, short quiet knock on the hall door. Mary hesitated, crossed to the door and listened a moment with her ear pressed against the panels.

"Who—is it?" she managed to ask at last.

"It's the manager," came the answer.

Doubtfully Mary turned the key. The handle suddenly turned in her fingers, the door was pushed open against her and Spike stepped inside, slamming the door shut after him.

"You—you're not the manager," gasped Mary, staring at him.

"An' you're not Alice Brown," he smiled grimly. "That makes us even. Who's the fluff?" He nodded toward Goldie.

"My room-mate." "Room-mates have big ears." He walked over to Goldie and pointed to the bedroom. "You go in there while I talk to your pal."

"Don't be afraid, Mary Burns," he returned to Mary when they were alone. "I'm no copper. I'm a pal—of a pal of yours. A guy that answers to the monicker of Don Wilson."

"Is he here—in town?" Mary was struggling to keep calm.

"I'm not saying he is, and I'm not saying he ain't. But don't worry, girlie—I'll get you to him just the same. Better grab your hat."

"Why did he send you?" Mary was frightened and stalling for time.

"Why didn't he come himself?"

"He couldn't come. He's hotter than a rivet right now." Spike picked up Mary's hat and handed it to her. She took it but made no move to put it on. "Wilson figured you might be a little sore about me coming instead of him," the gangster continued. "But he'll make it up to you. He's goin' to make you forget the stir and all your troubles. He's stuck on you like nothing human."

"I'd like to fix myself up—get a few things," said Mary in whose mind a plan had formed. "Will it be all right?"

"O. K.," grinned Spike. "But where I'm takin' you nobody'll notice if your kisser is powdered or not. We've got plenty of miles to make before we see the Chief."

Mary hurried to the bedroom door. Goldie came out as she entered. Spike eyed her speculatively.

"What did you say your name was?" he demanded.

"Miss Arnold. Rawther fawney, dawn't you think?" she shouted him. "Too fancy!" Spike thrust out his heavy chin menacingly. "You look like a dame named Goldie Gordon. In fact you are Goldie Gordon. A stool pigeon, aren't you, girlie?" He

On page 229 of the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," Mary Eddy makes this appealing and liberating statement: "If God causes man to be sick, sickness must be good, and its opposite, health, must be evil for all that He makes is good and will stand forever. If the transgression of God's law produces sickness, it is right to be sick; and we cannot if we would, and should not if we could, annul the decrees of wisdom. It is the transgression of a belief of mortal mind, not of a law of matter nor of divine Mind, which causes the belief of sickness. The remedy is Truth, not matter—the truth that disease is unreal." The recognition and realization of these truths has brought healing of sickness to many who had been given up by physicians, even as was promised by Christ Jesus.

Christian sanctions, then, are corrective rather than coercive; they imply pardon and peace, instead of pain and punishment, to all who acknowledge and obey the law of God, good. In other words, we have Scriptural authority for believing that as we yield to the urge of spiritual law, as we acknowledge and obey the law of divine Principle, we shall realize and manifest the purifying, harmonizing, and liberating effects which bespeak God as the loving Father-Mother of man and the universe. To be sure, those who willfully disobey the moral law are punished by their disobedience, because "whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap," as Paul wrote to the Galatians.

Christian Science exposes selfishness, greed, injustice, passion, and human will as manifestations of the mortal or carnal mind, which is enmity against God, Truth. These evil beliefs, therefore, may be recognized as falsities to be denied and not feared.

As we thus apply the Christianly scientific remedy—corrective sanctions—in our own thinking and living, it is inevitable that we shall consciously come under the protecting and pacifying influence of the law of divine Love. . . . —The Christian Science Monitor.

gripped her by the shoulders. "I didn't squawk when the kid was in here—but if you make one phoney move, Sister, it's daisies for you!"

Goldie faced him defiantly, but said nothing, realizing that the G-Men could not reach her in time if she antagonized Spike. The latter sat down astride a chair so that he could keep his eyes on Goldie and the bedroom door at the same time.

Minutes passed but Mary did not return. The gangster became impatient. "Hey, Kid," he called at last. There was no answer. Quickly he crossed to the bedroom door and jerked it open. The room was empty! And the window on the fire escape was open. Mary apparently had stuffed her belongings into a suitcase and escaped down the iron ladder.

"She's powdered," gasped Spike. Then he whirled on Goldie, his face murderous. "So you crossed me, huh?" he snarled as he pulled an automatic out of his shoulder holster. "You gave her the nod to blow. Where's she at? Where'd she go?" "On the level," screamed Goldie, backing toward the hall door. "I—"

"C'm on, before I let you have it." He leveled the weapon at her heart. Before he could fire—or cared to fire—Goldie jerked open the door and went flying down the hall. Spike followed, cursing.

BANK OF AMERICA EXPERIENCES BEST YEAR IN HISTORY

Bank of America National Trust & Savings Association, largest bank in the United States outside New York City, in 1935 experienced the record year of its history, with deposits, resources and earnings all registering their all-time high marks, it was announced today by A. P. Giannini, chairman.

In addition to attaining the highest recorded totals, the deposits, resources and earnings of the Bank in 1935 showed their greatest comparative gains over any preceding years in the bank's history.

Bank of America N. T. & S. A. is the fourth largest bank of the nation preceded only by Chase National Bank, National City Bank and Guaranty Trust Company, all of New York, in total amount of deposits and resources.

Deposits of Bank of America N. T. & S. A. in the past year increased $176,933,000 to a total of $1,155,265,000 as of December 31, 1935.

Total resources of the Bank on December 31 stood at $1,277,419,000, an increase of $135,096,000 for the year just closed.

Earnings of the Bank for 1935 totaled $16,276,000, an amount equal to $8.14 a share on 2,000,000 outstanding shares of capital stock. In 1934, earnings totaled $10,530,000, or $5.26 1/2 a share on the same number of outstanding shares.

During 1935 the Bank paid $6,000,000 in dividends, including the $1,000,000 extra dividend declared in the last quarter. Dividends amounted to $3 a share during the past year, as against $1.87 1/2 a share in 1934, when a total of $3,750,000 was disbursed.

In addition to dividend payments, $6,578,000 of the Bank's 1935 earnings was allocated to reserves and $3,703,000 went into surplus and undivided profits, which totaled $50,867,000 at the close of the year.

The recently organized Installment Loan Department was very active during 1935 and will expand its scope materially during 1936, Giannini said. He pointed out that installment loans in the amount of $18,000,000 were made during 1935 in the form of automobile financing, personal loans and modernization loans, and stated that it is planned to continue this type of lending throughout 1936 even should the government cease to insure modernization and equipment loans after April 1.

Market Conditions Show Vast Increase

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9 —(UP)—Mainly because of improved market conditions, California commercial truck crop growers marketed crops valued at $72,522,000 in 1935, an increase of $4,700,000 over the preceding year, according to the state department of agriculture.

The income was derived from the production of 516,000 acres harvested during the year, or 33,000 more than in 1934. The state's list of commercial truck crops includes 25 major items and almost as many of less importance.

The asparagus crop was one of the outstanding producers of the year, bringing in an estimated $6,913,000 from 70,670 acres. Other star crops included spring lettuce, $6,683,000; fall, spring and summer celery $5,319,000.

"Cool weather throughout the year caused 1935 vegetable crops to mature two and three weeks later than the preceding year," a bulletin of the federal-state crop reporting service said. "An early frost in October terminated many of the fall crops just as they were getting into full production. Yields generally were lighter due principally to cold weather."

"Prices started off well, but during the summer months competing areas supplied many of the larger terminals and during this period many melon, lettuce and potato growers were selling right at the cost of production, with markets limited to exceptional quality."

"As the year finished prices improved mainly as a result of frost curtailing the home-grown supplies in the consuming areas."

'In Old Kentucky' Best Rogers Film

Flying hoofs, young romance and adventure under sunny southern skies fill the moving scenes of Will Rogers' last and greatest picture, "In Old Kentucky," which comes Wednesday to the Donner Theatre.

Adapted from the Charles T. Dazey play which has retained its hold on America's affection for 30 years, "In Old Kentucky" presents Rogers in his most whimsical, lovable role—as an old timer who knew everything about horses, and quite a little about youngsters in love.

Dorothy Wilson and Russell Hardie share the romantic leads in the film.

Prominently cast in supporting are Charles Sellon, Louise Henry, and Bill Robinson, the world's greatest tapdancer. George Marshall directed "In Old Kentucky."

PHONE COMPANY ASK CUT IN RATES

New long distance rate schedule adjustments incorporating new service features and substantial rate reductions, within California, have been proposed by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. in an application filed with the California Railroad Commission.

"In seeking authority to readjust our interexchange rates," said M. R. Sullivan, Vice President and General Manager, "we are carrying out our established policy of rendering the greatest amount of service at the least possible cost to our patrons. In accordance with this policy, we are offering many new and advantageous features in our toll service. Our proposal will make the telephone more useful to more people in more ways."

Under the suggested schedule, station to station rates would be progressively lowered. At 200 miles the reduction would be approximately 20 per cent, on longer distances as much as 40 per cent.

The petition sets forth a new night station to station period, beginning at 7 P. M. and continuing until 4:30 A. M., instead of the present period of 8:30 P. M. to 4:30 A. M.

The weekend rate period would start Saturdays at 7 P. M. and continue through 4:30 A. M. Mondays. Night station to station rates would thus apply to all day Sunday service on station to station calls.

In this category, reductions would amount to approximately 12 per cent for calls within a fifty mile radius, and increase progressively to as much as 65 per cent on long haul tolls.

Person to person rates likewise would be reduced in the periods for which station to station reductions apply. At 200 miles the savings would be about 20 per cent, increasing to 60 per cent for longer distances.

Rate classifications for appointment and messenger calls would be eliminated. Such messages would be accepted at the new person to person rates, a reduction of at least 15 per cent in addition to the other savings.

Radio Interference Discussed By Chamber

Chester H. Elliott of the C. & E. Electrical Service at Hobart Mills spoke at the Chamber of Commerce meeting on Monday regarding the matter of co-operation of the owners of electrical appliances with radio service men in the elimination of interference. The radio reception in some localities in town has been far from satisfactory and Mr. Elliott stated that with the installation of circuit filters a great deal of this trouble could be eliminated. As there is no way to force the installation of these filters, the co-operation of the public is requested.

C. Edmunds, manager of the Utility District assured Mr. Elliott that the District would co-operate in anyway possible to improve the radio reception in so far as they were able.
